

Howard A. Burde, Esquire
Chair, Health Law, Blank Rome LLP

Howard Burde represents health information technology companies, health plans, and federal, state, and local governments. He routinely counsels in the following areas: health information technology; health insurance and managed care law issues; licensure; and certification and accreditation matters. Mr. Burde's wealth of healthcare knowledge includes seven years of service as deputy general counsel to Governors Tom Ridge and Mark Schweiker of Pennsylvania. In this position, he served as legal counsel for Commonwealth of Pennsylvania responsible for the Departments of Health, Public Welfare, and Aging, as well as for the Health Related Professional Boards, and the Medical Professional Liability Catastrophe Loss Fund. He also advised on all managed care, health insurance, public health, and health and human service issues. From June 1995 until November 1997, Mr. Burde was chief counsel to the Pennsylvania Department of Health. Prior to his government service, Mr. Burde had seven years of private practice experience representing health care providers. Mr. Burde is editor and contributing author of three books: A Guide To Establishing RHIOs (HIMSS, 2007), The Utilization Management Guide (URAC, 2004), The Health Laws of Pennsylvania (PBI Press, 2001) and the forthcoming A Guide to Understanding and Implementing Personal Health Records: The Technology, Economics, Politics and Law (HIMSS, anticipated 3/2008) as well as several articles on health law.
